Johnson Talks To Grads At Holy Cross College

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States has achieved an economic breakthrough in producing power from large-scale nuclear reactors. He said this knowledge will be shared with the world.

Johnson cited the advancements in power reactor technology in addressing commencement exercises at Holy Cross College.

Montana's Floodwater Is Receding

Thirty Are Dead, More Missing In Disaster Areas

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Montana's floodwaters receded today leaving behind a vast trail of death and destruction.

At least 30 persons were dead, 38 missing and thousands homeless as the massive flood crest moved down the Missouri River over lowland areas past Great Falls, the state's largest city.

As deadly floodwaters inched downward, weather observers expressed concern about conditions on the Missouri 200 miles upstream from Great Falls.

Normally shallow mountain streams still were running like rivers today on both sides of the Continental Divide, pouring thousands of cubic feet a second into flood control reservoirs.

There was no immediate danger to communities downstream from Great Falls although officials evacuated Loma, a community of 200 at the junction of the Teton River and the Missouri.

Pounding waters washed out a bridge at Loma, leaving only one major highway open into Great Falls. Two thousand were homeless in Great Falls.

School Supt. Bruce Milne said there were two known dead in the Valier area. Both were youngsters who presumably drowned in a flash flood that rushed down Birch Creek after a torrent of water broke an earthen irrigation dam.

Milne said 31 persons were missing in the Valier area. In nearby Conrad, the coroner listed seven more missing.

Approve CMSC Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration has approved a $2.3 million loan to Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, Mo., for construction of two new 3-story brick residence halls and dining facilities.

Approval of the loan was announced today by Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long and Rep. W. J. Randall, Missouri Democrats. They were told one of the new residence halls would accommodate 292 women students and one would house 400 men students.

Considers Ticket

Goldwater Eyes Four As Possible Running Mates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater—standing on the threshold of the Republican presidential nomination — is eying four Eastern GOP leaders as he thinks about a running mate.

To his closest associates, Goldwater has mentioned these names as possible vice-presidential choices:

—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

—Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky.

—Rep. William E. Miller of New York.

—Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio.

Goldwater hasn't ruled anybody in or out of the running, a source close to the Arizona senator said today.

But Goldwater has said he thinks the Republican National Convention will want to balance the ticket—if he heads it—with a moderate Republican from the East.

The four men associates say Goldwater has mentioned all fit that pattern.

Publicly, Goldwater usually bypasses questions about a vice-presidential choice. "I'm looking for delegates, not vice presidents," is his stock reply.

He has talked about Scranton, suggesting the Pennsylvania governor would be well advised to consider the vice-presidential nomination.

That way, Goldwater said Sunday, if the ticket lost, the governor would be in a position to capture the presidential nomination in 1968.

Scranton questioned whether a ticket pairing him with Goldwater would make sense. He said they would disagree on how best to implement some Republican principles.

But Goldwater described their areas of disagreement as very minor.

With his delegate strength mounting steadily toward the

Regents Seek Ouster Of Dr. Traywick

SMSC Publishes 24-Page Review Of Skirmishing

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The regents of Southwest Missouri State College published a 24-page review of almost two years of skirmishing with Dr. Leland E. Traywick, the school's president, and asked him Tuesday night to leave immediately.

The regents accused him of mishandling finances, making irresponsible money requests, disregarding its actions, usurping powers and trying to undermine its authority.

Dr. Traywick issued a new statement saying the regents had overstepped their policy-making functions, "attempting to push the president aside and run the college intermittently."

The regents announced June 1 they had accepted Dr. Traywick's resignation, effective at the end of the month. Dr. Traywick countered with an assertion he had been fired.

His charges that vacillation by the board and its insistence upon direct control of finances, together with protests by students, faculty members and the Alumni Association, touched off a furor.

It came to a head Tuesday night when Kenneth E. Postlethwaite of Nevada, president of the regents, and the five other members of the board held a public meeting with the executive board of the 9,500-member Alumni Association and about 50 spectators.

School Board Opens Bids; Talks About 2 Annexations

The Sedalia Board of Education accepted the low bids on some items and voted to accept the recommendations of the instructors concerned or others too detailed for immediate decision, at the board's regular meeting Tuesday night.

The Menefee Construction bid of $4,750 on resurfacing the playground at Mark Twain School was accepted. The Queen City Electric Co. bid of $4,910 for electrical work at Horace Mann and Smith-Cotton High School was accepted. The Keele Paint Co. bid of $242 on cork for bulletin boards was accepted, providing the bid includes delivery, otherwise the bid of $250 submitted by Dugan's Paint Co. may be the low bid, as it includes delivery.

The Bowlus Supply Co. bid of $5,673.33 for auditorium seats for Smith-Cotton was accepted. The Drexel Office & Furniture Co. bid of $1,209.60 on lockers for Jennie Jaynes Stadium and the girls locker room at the Smith-Cotton gymnasium was accepted. The Ideal Printing Co. bid of $1,584.42 on printing was accepted.

Bids on industrial arts equipment, science supplies and equipment, art supplies, janitorial supplies, instructional supplies and physical education supplies were taken under detailed study.

Representatives from Anderson School were present to talk over the pending annexation of that district to the Sedalia School District after July 1. Board members as individuals indicated they will vote favorably on the annexation at the next board meeting. They will also vote on the annexation of

Turns Away From Scene Of Killings

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Andrew Jackson Walker sobbed, "I'm a sick man, I know."

With that, he turned away from the scene of two murders where police took him Tuesday for questioning.

Walker, a 38-year-old Negro, has been grilled since his arrest Sunday about three unsolved murders in the Smithville-Camden Point area of Platte County.

Tuesday, officers took Walker to a remote cemetery lane in the suburban Kansas City county where the body of Mrs. Marion Biscoe was found April 29.

He has also been questioned about the slaying of Mrs. Biscoe's mother, Mrs. Hattie Biscoe, who was found in a car near her daughter's body, and that of Mrs. Patricia Willoughby last October. They had been shot with a .38-caliber pistol.

Dr. V. W. Harris, consulting psychologist for the Kansas City police department, accompanied Walker Tuesday. The murders, the psychologist told him, were committed by a sick man. Such a man, Dr. Harris said, should tell someone about it so he could find relief.

But Walker maintained he was only hunting groundhogs along the lonely road the day of the slayings, and that he did not see the Biscoe women.

the Quisenberry School District. About 60 students from the two districts are involved.

The matter of assigning some of the Anderson School pupils to the Cole Camp school was brought up, and the board authorized Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of Sedalia Schools, to notify the individuals concerned and the Cole Camp school officials.

Flights Over Laotian Area Under Study

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger said today that continuance of American reconnaissance flights over Laos and fighter escorts for the flights is still a matter of decision between him and Premier Souvanna Phouma.

Unger told a news conference he expects to consult with Prince Souvanna Thursday on the flights when the premier returns from an overnight trip to the royal capital of Luang Prabang. Souvanna went there this morning, presumably to brief King Savang Vathana on developments.

The ambassador was commenting on unofficial reports that Souvanna had said he wanted the American reconnaissance flights—which he requested three weeks ago—stopped today.

Unger said he had no formal knowledge of Souvanna's reported desire to have the flights halted. But well-informed sources said no flights had been scheduled for today.

These sources said there had been no plans for daily flights on an indefinite basis.

Minuteman Completion Draws Near

A spokesman in the information office at Whiteman Air Force Base affirmed Wednesday that the 150-bird Minuteman missile project is on schedule and completion and final turnover of the complex to the Air Force is drawing near.

The information section's official comment as to an exact date, however, was "in the next month or so." Completion and turnover ceremonies at the base are scheduled and announcement of these plans may come in the next two weeks, it was reported.

In the meantime, Boeing Company employees have dwindled to the extent the firm has announced closing of its Bachelor Quarters on Industrial Drive.

Harry Hotchkiss, director of industrial relations for Boeing, said the BOQ housing will close Saturday, June 13, and the approximately 35 men remaining will take up quarters in Bothwell Hotel and private housing. "This is an economy move," Hotchkiss said. "When the number of men in the quarters becomes so small it is no longer feasible to keep them open."

Votes To Choke Off Southern Filibuster

Senatorial Debating Limited To One Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today, in a history-shattering move, to choke off the 75-day-old Southern filibuster against the civil rights bill.

Each senator's time to debate the bill and all amendments will now be limited to one hour. This appears to assure Senate passage of the far-reaching bill, possibly before the end of next month.

Emergency Warning To Cyprus Area

US Reported Ready To Take Sharper Action On Crisis

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball set out today on an emergency mission to warn Greece and Turkey of the Johnson administration's concern about the Cyprus crisis.

Informed sources said Ball carried word that the United States is ready to take sharp measures — their nature unspecified — to prevent the conflict from degenerating into a Greek-Turkish war or otherwise disrupting the eastern flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Before boarding a plane here, Ball told newsmen "it is utterly impossible for war to break out between the two North Atlantic treaty partners because of the serious consequences this would have for the whole free world."

Ball, who has spent two days at the closing phase of the U.N. trade and development conference, canceled a scheduled trip to London to undertake his mission in Athens and Ankara.

Ball changed his plans on direct orders from President Johnson.

He said he is meeting Greek Premier George Papandreu in Athens tonight and will leave for Ankara later in the night for talks with Turkish leaders. He is due back in Washington late Thursday to report to Johnson.

He said his trip was not intended as a mediation effort because "this problem can only be solved by the parties directly involved."

MU Graduates Hear Wadsworth Address

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Degrees were conferred on a graduating class of 1,644 at the University of Missouri's 122nd annual commencement Tuesday night.

Five honorary degrees went to Homer C. Wadsworth, president of the Kansas City Association of Trusts and Foundations; State Sen. Michael Kinney of St. Louis; Dr. Franc Lewis McCluer, president of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo.; Cramer W. LaPier of New York, executive vice president of General Electric, and Arthur Tillman Merritt, professor of music at Harvard.

Governor's Conference Ends Today

With Goldwater Almost Sure To Take GOP Nod

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The annual Governors Conference, which has had all the aspects of a miniature Republican convention, ends today with Sen. Barry Goldwater galloping almost unchallenged toward the GOP presidential nomination.

The 56th annual convention hasn't produced a moderate Republican opponent for the conservative senator from Arizona. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon tried hard to stir up a nomination fight that some of his critics thought was aimed at opening the way for Nixon himself to run against President Johnson as a compromise choice.

But none of the GOP governors who had claimed that Goldwater's views are not in the mainstream of Republican thinking wanted to take on the senator.

Latest to bow out was Gov. George Romney of Michigan. He announced through his press secretary Tuesday that he would not become an active candidate. Romney said he would accept a draft, but wouldn't go back on a 1962 commitment to Michigan voters not to seek national office this year.

This announcement came after Nixon said he had urged Romney to run, and Romney said he had been urged by some fellow governors to make the race and would consider it.

Earlier, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania retired from the field after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower put on a go-and-stop operation in his behalf. Eisenhower urged Scranton to make himself more available, then advised the governor not to join any cabal against Goldwater.

Police Keep Watch On Negro Area

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Watchful police kept a round-the-clock surveillance on the Negro community in Tuscaloosa today, alert for signs of new demonstrations in the wake of Tuesday's bloody street battle.

Negro leaders, some of them in jail as a result of the clash with police, gave no indication of their future course.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. ordered some of his key staff members sent in to Tuscaloosa. City authorities assumed that some effort might be made to keep the demonstrations alive despite the ban on street marches which touched off the wild outbreak of club swinging and rock and bottle throwing.

Ninety-six Negroes went to jail in the aftermath of a 45-minute siege which sent 33 Negroes and a policeman to a hospital with cuts and bruises and tear-gas sickness.

City police and sheriffs deputies, reinforced by plainclothes state investigators, patrolled Negro sections through the night but found no evidence of organized Negro activity.

State troopers, some of whom stood guard at the University of Alabama campus in Tuscaloosa just a year ago when two Negroes were admitted to the university, reportedly were ready to move into the city if local authorities asked for them.

Two Marine Corps Men Are Missing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Marine Corps enlisted men were reported missing and may have been captured by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

An American military spokesman announced today the two men, assigned to a Marine helicopter unit at Danang, 380 miles north of Saigon, have been missing since Sunday when they went on a beach picnic.

Their disappearance raises to 14 the number of American military personnel missing since December 1961.

Arrest Ex-Con Wanted In Three Bank Robberies

EAST ST. LOUIS (AP)—The FBI arrested in St. Louis Tuesday a heavily-armed ex-convict wanted for robbing three Chicago area banks.

There had been a nation-wide manhunt on for Frank Warren Earnest, 51, until the FBI captured him in a north St. Louis hotel room.

Earnest was armed with two .38 caliber revolvers but offered no resistance. FBI agents said he gave his name but refused to make any other statement.

The fugitive had been constantly on the move since the three holdups last December and January. The FBI said his trail led to Kansas City, San Antonio, Tex., and other cities until he arrived in St. Louis last Friday.

Earnest was also sought on a fugitive warrant for a burglary in Hiawatha, Kan.

Earnest has served prison sentences for armed robbery in Missouri and Kansas. He is a native of Hawk Point, Mo.

LBJ Doing Well

Washington Still Ranks As Nation's Richest President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Lyndon B. Johnsons are doing quite well financially — what with an estimated wealth of more than $9 million—but don't get the idea they are the richest family ever to inhabit the White House.

Who, then, was our best-heeled president? It's hard to figure—because of the changing values of money and other factors—but all evidence points to George Washington.

When the father of his country died he left real estate valued then at $530,000, including the famous Mount Vernon. Translated into today's values that might mean $20 million or more.

Though Washington was rich in land, slaves and tobacco, he was sometimes short of cash. In fact, just before his first inauguration, he had to hit a fellow townsman in Alexandria, Va., up for a loan of 600 pounds, at 6 per cent interest.

*Short crops and other causes not entirely within my control" had temporarily strapped him, he said.

Second richest president may be Herbert Hoover, though this is not known with any certainty. An engineer and mining promoter, he rolled up a $6-million fortune as early as 1914. There is no exact information how this has grown since, though it is known that Hoover has made large gifts to education and charity.

Other well-to-do presidents:

John F. Kennedy—whose estate was reported to total something like $10 million, at least.

Franklin D. Roosevelt — $1,085,500.

Theodore Roosevelt — $811,000.

Thomas Jefferson died owing $40,000. He had really splurged fixing up that magnificent home, Monticello, at Charlottesville, Va., and was never a man to stint the pennies during his many years of ill-paid public service.

Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman are feeling no pain financially.

Back in 1952, during the presidential campaign, Eisenhower published a financial accounting showing a 10-year net income after taxes of $643,148. The bulk of this was a $476,250 net on his book "Crusade in Europe."

Truman has done well, starting his retirement by writing his memoirs for a net of maybe $250,000, and going right on.

All this delving into presidential fortunes, or lack thereof, is occasioned by a report in the Washington Evening Star Tuesday that the Johnson family is worth $9 million or more, in television and radio stations, land, banks and stocks.

Uncle Sam Grips About Water Bill

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Uncle Sam took on the role of a private citizen here and complained about his water bill.

The director of the Veterans Administration domiciliary, E. C. McDaniel, told city officials the domiciliary's water bill had jumped 84 per cent under a new rate plan and he urgently needed an adjustment.

Otherwise, he said, he would be compelled to readjust his budget to the extent of firing at least one employee.

The commission took the request under consideration with a promise to provide relief if possible.

Sugar Beet Growers Committee Is Formed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert J. Waite of Breckenridge, Minn., said a "national new sugar beet growers committee" has been formed with prospective new growers representing 17 states.

The organization was formed, Waite said Tuesday to secure allotments in new sugar beet growing areas to replace crops now being grown in surplus.

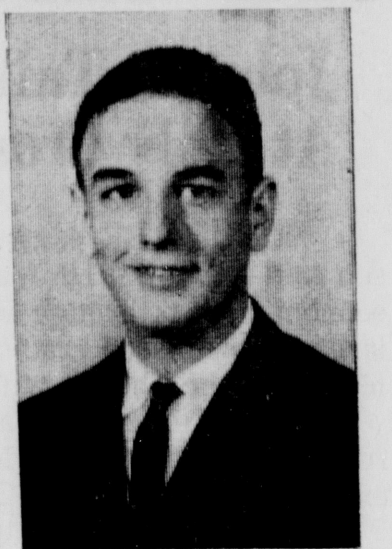

The organization recommends extension of the present sugar act from 1967 through 1970, increasing the annual allotment from 65,000 tons to 150,000 tons for new domestic sugar beet production.

States represented by the new committee include Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Answers Your Problems

Hutchison-Sterling Vows Said in May

Miss Linda Lou Hutchison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Hutchison, Versailles, was wed to Mr. Leonard Thomas Sterling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sterling, Versailles, at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 24 in a candle-light ceremony at St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church, Versailles. The Rev. Thomas Dugan, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with red roses and white carnations and lighted white tapers. Mrs. William McKinley, organist, played traditional wedding music.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. The gown, designed on princess lines, featured a Sabrina neckline, which dipped to a modest V in the back. Long sleeves tapered to traditional wrist points. The bodice, which was embellished with seed pearls and sequins, drifted into a bouffant shirred lace skirt. White taffeta dressmaker roses added back skirt interest.

The bride veil was shoulder length illusion, edged in lace and held in place by a pearl and sequin Queen's crown. She wore lace gauntlets and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Judy Branco, Versailles, who wore a gown of embroidered lace over pastel blue taffeta. She wore a tiny hat with circlet veil. Her flowers were like those of the bride.

Mr. Paul Sterling, Versailles, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. James Shultz, Columbia, and Mr. John Branco, Versailles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hutchison chose a beige flowered jersey dress with beige and white accessories. The mother of the bride wore a pink dress with pink and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the American Legion Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and held a four tiered cake, decorated with pink rosebuds and a miniature bride couple. Pink roses encircled the base of the cake.

Mrs. Nellie McFarland, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Marva Hutchison, attended the guest book.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cleo Johnson, Mrs. Mildred Homan, Mrs. Hutchison, Mrs. Dwayne Johnson and Mrs. Freddie McFarland.

For traveling, the bride wore a blue linen dress with accessories of white and a corsage of gardenias.

After the wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple will live at Ft. Gordon, Ga., where the bridegroom is stationed with the United States Army Signal Corps.

Failing Fifth Grade, But Goes to College

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Billy Green, who is failing his fifth grade subjects, is going to college this summer.

Billy, 12, scored 200 on an intelligence test administered by the University of South Florida. The genius category starts at 140.

County school Supt. Woodrow Garden says Billy reads eight to 12 advanced science books a week but struggles with his fifth grade work, perhaps because it doesn't challenge him.

The board of Brevard Junior College voted Tuesday to allow Billy to enroll in one course.

Billy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Green of Eau Gallie, Fla., probably will take a mathematics or science course.

"We want to determine what kind of program he should have," said Garden.

Farmer Is Beheaded

MANILA (AP) — Unidentified men, believed to be headhunters, beheaded a farmer Saturday in Luzon Island's Mountain Province, the constabulary reported Tuesday.

The bride was graduated from Versailles High School this spring. The bridegroom, a Versailles High School graduate of 1962, has been in military service for two years.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. George Upton, Green Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sterling and Mrs. Len Stowe, Lebanon; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sterling, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Mrs. Elsie Talbot and daughter, Judy, Sedalia.

Space Woman Gives Birth To Her Baby

MOSCOW (AP) — The world's only space woman, Valentina Nikolayevna - Tereshkova, gave birth to a daughter last Sunday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

The baby's father is Soviet spaceman Andrian Nikolayev, who orbited the earth in August 1962, with Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich. Valentina orbited the earth in company with Valery Bykovsky in June 1963.

Both mother and daughter are well, Tass said.

Usually reliable sources said the baby weighed nearly 7 pounds.

Valentina and Nikolayev were married in Moscow last Nov. 3 and spent their honeymoon touring South Asian countries.

Although the baby is the first born to an astronaut couple, Gherman Titov was the first astronaut to become a father after orbiting the earth. His wife gave birth to a daughter, Tanya, last September.

Three days ago the doctor for the Soviet astronauts, Dr. Evgeny Petrov, reported that Valentina was in the best of health. During her pregnancy she has been studying at the Military Aeronautic Engineering Academy and recently passed examinations in English and mathematics.

The astronauts were married in a televised white wedding at the flower-decked Palace of Marriages in Moscow. At the reception afterward, with Premier Khrushchev as host, the newlyweds were given a "symbolic present" by Soviet military leaders. It was a little doll—a girl.

Khrushchev said he was a

Dear Ann Landers: So now I'm a prostitute. According to you, that is. In a recent column you said, "When sex is used by a wife as payment for favors and is withheld as punishment, it places the marriage at the level of prostitution."

Well, what else can a woman do when sex is the only effective weapon she has? I've been married to this character for 18 years and it's the only approach that works.

My husband is a professional man with an income that exceeds $40,000 a year. Almost every woman I know gets an allowance from her husband. But not me. My husband doesn't believe a wife needs an allowance. He says, "What for? You're home all day."

The only way I can get any money out of him is to nail him when he's in an amorous mood. It isn't quite as commercial as it sounds, Ann, but that's about the size of it.

Now, do you blame me? — THE PROFESSIONAL AMATEUR.

Dear Amateur: If this has been going on for 18 years, you aren't going to change it. A man with your husband's twisted concept of married love is not about to be re-trained.

A bouquet of skunk cabbage to him, however, for reducing you to such a level. And my deepest sympathy to you. You've missed it all.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell retired relatives to stay home?

Our third daughter was married last year and we converted her room to a library—but there are still two empty bedrooms. We'd like to keep them intact for our children and their families when they come to visit, but if this parade of retired aunts and uncles doesn't stop, we are going to sell our home and move into an apartment-hotel.

Since last August we have had uninvited guests almost continuously. We wanted to take a vacation in October but couldn't go because we had company.

Is there a way to protect ourselves against free-loading kin without creating hard feelings? —TRAPPED.

Dear Trapped: Probably not, so go ahead and create some hard feelings. You will have lost nothing of value if these people cross you off their travel maps.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are friendly with a nice couple who come to our home every other week to play cards. They have two sons who are the same ages as our boys, so we take our children when we go to their home, and they bring their children when they come to us.

We know that normal boys are bubbling over with energy and we don't expect them to be angels, but we do insist that our children respect other people's property. These friends let their boys wear cowboy boots which have cleats on the bottom and they have just about wrecked our floors. Our own sons wear tennis shoes in the house.

Next month we are having our floors re-done. I dread to think of what those two kids will do to the new floor. Do I dare say anything to the parents? You once said in your column, "Floors are to walk on," when someone wrote about the effects of high-heels on vinyl.—UN. D. CIDED.

Dear Un: Floors ARE to walk on, but cleats on cowboy boots are not normal in-the-house footwear. If you allow those kids to ruin your new floors with their cleats you've got oatmeal where your brains belong.

Ask them to leave their boots by the front door and offer your sons' spare tennis shoes or suggest they run around in their socks.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bee Stealers Move Into the Old West

MINCO, Okla. (AP)—It used to be cattle rustlers in this part of the West. Now it's bee stealers.

Glen Gibson, executive secretary of the American Bee Keeping Federation, said Tuesday bee hive thefts are on the increase. A single colony, he said, will bring as much as $30.

Why were they wild about Harry?

Missouri's favorite son, Harry ("Give 'em hell") Truman pulls no punches as he looks back over his extraordinary career this week in The Saturday Evening Post. Does he regret firing MacArthur? "The only trouble was I waited so long." What does he think of Lyndon Johnson? "... the best-informed, most experienced politician who has gone into the Presidency." Why didn't he take the $100,000-a-year job offered to him after his second term? Why didn't he attend the 1960 Democratic Convention? What does he think of the Republican Party? Get the answers in "My First Eighty Years" by Harry S. Truman. Also Robert Sherrod gives a penetrating report on Truman today and some of the highlights of his career in this week's Saturday Evening Post. On sale now.

A parking lot at 918 South Limit was the scene of an accident at 3:35 p.m. Tuesday.

Involved were a 1959 Chevrolet pick-up, being backed from a parking spot by Gloria Owens, 34, 1913 West Broadway, and a parked 1956 Oldsmobile, owned by Ben Addington, Jr., Jacksonville, Fla.

Damaged was the right side of the Addington car.

Circuit Court

Companion damage suits filed Wednesday in Circuit Court by Shirley and John Templemeyer ask a total judgment of $20,000 against Carl Wayne Cobb, 1113 East 13th.

Mrs. Templemeyer charges negligence on the part of Cobb and alleges she was injured while a passenger in an auto driven by Cobb which struck a parked vehicle in the 600 block of East 16th on Jan. 22, 1964.

She seeks $15,000 damages and her husband, John, asks $5,000 in his suit for the loss of her companionship.

O. E. Brown and James E. Durlay are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

The divorce petition of Sarah C. Hughes against Carl L. Hughes was dismissed in Circuit Court Wednesday.

Circuit Clerk Bryan Howe reported a change Wednesday morning in one of three commissioners appointed by the court to appraise a 30-acre tract owned by Earl and Helen Thomas and sought by the city of Sedalia through condemnation.

Mike O'Connor will replace Oscar DeWolf. The other two commissioners are E. H. McLaughlin and Larry Matthews.

GOP Club Hears Ewald At Meeting

Former State Representative William B. Ewald, of Kirkwood, a Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, was the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Pettis County Republican Club, Tuesday night. The meeting was held at the Holiday Inn, with a dinner preceding the speaking.

Henry Keeler, president of the club, presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker.

More than 65 persons were in attendance.

Mr. Ewald declared that the chief responsibility of the next governor of Missouri is at once to reverse the downward economic trend of the state, by which 88 of the 114 counties have lost population, wealth and standing in recent years. He mentioned that Pettis County is one of the few which have not had this experience, but pointed out that the bad effects of this conditions in other counties are felt in Pettis nevertheless. He stated that, first and foremost, without requiring any new laws whatever, he would bring about a strong improvement in business and employment through a greatly stimulated Division of Commerce and Industrial Development under the direct guidance and supervision of the governor himself. In carrying out this program he would join the investment bankers of the state and the existing business enterprises which need more capital, especially in rural Missouri.

The candidate said in part: "The state's major economic problem must be attacked outside, from which the benefits will quickly roll to the cities. There are thousands of well-operated business units in Missouri which are hampered by a lack of investment and working capital. This can be supplied by willing private sources, chiefly the investment banking firms of the state, which are one of our richest untapped resources. By bringing together the established businesses, especially outside, and the investment banking firms of the cities, under the close direction of a governor who is experienced in this work, the private businesses of the state can do a much better and bigger job in their communities, employment will increase in Missouri, and our people, especially our young people who are leaving the state in despair, will have a happier outlook on

Club Work Discussed By Optimists

The Optimist Club held its noon meeting Tuesday at Bothwell Hotel at which time club projects were discussed. Wray Schroeder reported on the fireworks stand which will be located, he said, on West Highway 50 near the drive-in theatre. This is an annual project of the club.

Ed Mitchell, president, presided over the meeting and appointed George Miller and Lee Deason to take care of the Optimist sign in cooperation with the Civic Club Council's program for repainting or replacing the welcome to the city signs of the various civic clubs on the highways leading into the city.

The club voted to give $50 toward the sponsoring of the girls soft ball team.

Mitchell announced that District 8, of which Sedalia is a part, and of which Ralph Glasscock, Clinton, is governor, is life. The finest market in the world for the products of the factories of St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield and St. Joseph is a thriving and prosperous outside Missouri. As governor of Missouri I will quickly bring this about."

TV Networks, AP to Pool Election Coverage in Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—The three major radio-television networks and The Associated Press will pool the collection of election returns in the November presidential, senatorial and gubernatorial races.

United Press International was also reported considering participation in the program, to be called Network Election Service.

The announcement Tuesday, issued after a meeting of officials of the organizations, said the service will use more than 100,000 reporters to cover returns at the precinct or county level.

The announcement added: "Network Election Service will be administered by a board of directors consisting of one representative from each network. They will be Arnold Snyder, manager of election coverage for ABC News; William Eames, editorial director of the CBS News election unit; and Frank Jordan, manager of election coverage for NBC News.

People In The News

LONDON (AP)—Ringo Starr, the man who lays down the beat for the Beatles, is "definitely better" and will leave University College Hospital before the weekend, a hospital spokesman said today.

Ringo has been in the hospital since June 3 for treatment of tonsillitis.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Martin is a grandmother.

A son, Timothy, was born Tuesday in New York's Lenox Hill Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Weir. She's the former Heller Halliday, daughter of actress Martin and her husband, Richard Halliday, New York theater producer.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Horace D. Taft, son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican stalwart from Ohio, has been promoted to full professor at Yale University.

The appointment of Taft, a physicist, was announced Tuesday.

BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia says he and Soviet Premier Khrushchev "found with satisfaction that our attitudes were identical as regard mutual relations and international problems."

Tito made the comment Tuesday upon his arrival home from Leningrad, where he and Khrushchev had a four-hour conference.

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, was 43 years old today.

ANDOVER, N. J. (AP)—Quote of the day: Mrs. Ida B. Folkner, 82 and a driver for 48 years, voluntarily gave up her license, explaining: "I never had an accident and I don't want to start now. There's no use in pressing my luck."

Sakajawea Day Camp Planned For Five Days

One hundred twenty Girl Scouts will begin five days of camping Monday at Camp Sakajawea. "Our American Way," with pioneer and Indian features will be the theme.

The following bus schedule shows the time the bus leaves in the morning and returns in the afternoon:

Washington School 8:30, 3:30;
Whittier School 8:35, 3:25;
Broadway School 8:45, 3:15;
Sacred Heart School 8:50, 3:10;
Mark Twain School 8:55, 3:05;
Third and State Fair 9:00, 3:00;
Heber Hunt School 9:05, 2:55;
Horace Mann School 9:10, 2:50;
Memorial Park Cemetery entrance 9:15, 2:45.

Each camper is to wear anklets and sturdy shoes and a hat, shorts and an appropriate top. One pair of jeans or pedal pushers might be brought to wear on hikes. Canteens are not necessary, as running water is available. If the ground is still damp, boots should be brought and a raincoat, if it looks like rain.

A sack lunch should be brought each day. A choice of drinks is provided between white milk, chocolate milk and orange drink.

Junior and Cadette Scouts are to bring handbooks.

Father Fatally Wounded by Shot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police say a shot fired by a 4-year-old boy fatally wounded his father. The father, Leonard Thierry, 32, forced his son, Glen, to shoot him after threatening to spank the boy with a belt, police reported.

Thierry died Tuesday. He and his wife had quarreled Sunday night. She left home. Thierry asked two of the couple's older children to shoot him in the head. They refused.

Glen also refused until threatened with the spanking. After the shooting, officers found Mrs. Thierry and returned the children to her care.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Thailand ordered advance teams to Borneo today to set up a communications network for Thai teams that will verify withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo.

Foreign Office sources said Malaysian and Indonesian negotiators still have not reached agreement on all details of the verification procedure.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council voted a new appeal to South Africa Tuesday to stop handing out death sentences to those who run afoul of its racial policies. The vote was 7-0, with the United States, Britain, France and Brazil abstaining.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cubans were told Tuesday night it doesn't matter whether the Democrats or the Republicans win the U.S. election because both will be bad for Latin America.

Communist leader Blas Roca said in a radio-television appearance: "There are some candidates who wouldn't be as bad as that madman Goldwater but both parties are enemies of Latin America."

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Pablo Casals paid tribute to the late President John F. Kennedy Tuesday night with a memorial concert at the annual Casals Music Festival.

Guilty of Robbing Star Credit Union

KANSAS CITY (AP)—John Samuel Rima, 35, was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury Tuesday of first degree robbery in the $34,350 holdup of the Kansas City Star Credit Union last July 22.

The jury fixed Rima's punishment at eight years imprisonment. His attorney was granted 30 days in which to file for a new trial. Rima was allowed to remain free in the meantime on $7,500 bond.

Another man, Nick Louis Spero, 28, also is charged in the robbery. He is awaiting trial.

Increase In Cases

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The municipal health department said Tuesday the last 24 hours brought an increase of only four — to a total of 416 — in hospitalizations caused by the city's typhoid epidemic. There has been one death.

The 87-year-old cellist ignored friends' advice and conducted the entire program.

OTTAWA (AP)—The House of Commons Tuesday night approved a government bill to replace the chiefs of staff of Canada's three armed forces with a single defense chief.

The bill still must get a third reading in the Commons — a formality — and approval by the Senate.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

EXCISES: The way has been cleared for the House to vote this week on repealing excise taxes on some of the items dear to women: furs, cosmetics, jewelry and luggage and handbags.

Republicans want to have the 10 per cent tax this year and eliminate it entirely next year.

In an action Tuesday, the Rules Committee made it possible for the GOP proposal to be taken up in conjunction with a bill—cleared for debate Thursday—to extend a variety of excise taxes for another year.

ARMS CONTROL: President Johnson called Tuesday for redoubled efforts toward gaining effective arms controls as the Geneva disarmament conference resumed its sessions.

He instructed William C. Foster, chief U.S. negotiator at the 17-nation conference, to leave no stone unturned in attempting to find safeguarded alternatives to the arms race.

EXTRA FUNDS: President Johnson signed Tuesday a $1,336,687,143 emergency appropriations bill which included $41,370,000 to help Alaska recover from its recent earthquake.

The largest allotment, however, was $1,003,200,000 for the cost of military pay raises voted last year.

It is estimated that Americans open an average of 60 billion "tin" cans of food every 24 hours.

Flag Tribute Paid In NBC Color Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Just about everybody loves a parade with its stirring music, bright uniforms and the sight of Old Glory snapping in the breeze.

Tuesday night only a comparative handful of television viewers, those with access to color sets, could fully savor the spine-tingling sights in NBC's affectionate salute to the flag, a program called "The Red, White and Blue."

Most of those who saw the program found a sober, well-intentioned hour full of lofty sentiments and imaginative camera work, but all in white, black and gray. It was the color — brilliant reds and blues and greens — that turned the program into a memorable experience.

The program concentrated on a few patriotic events. One was an all-out Independence Day celebration held annually in Faith, N.C. population 493, which attracts 30,000 visitors. Another was a loving Memorial Day observance in the buried ground of Noank, a small Connecticut town whose children know the names and deeds of Noank men who gave their lives in many wars. There was a memoir of Ellis Island as the camera's eye wandered over the deserted crumbling buildings occupied only by the ghosts of other days.

Here and there the program tossed out a question about America "so flag-shy that Barbara Fritchie would be put down as a neighborhood eccentric."

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Wed., June 10, 1964 7

Narrator Walter Brennan pointed out that only 20 per cent of all Americans even own a flag.

But except for suggesting that flag-waving went out of fashion because it was done by "some mighty strange people," including Communists, American Nazis and the Ku Klux Klan, the program failed to diagnose the cause of the nation's apparent apathy about its flag.

Husked or par-boiled types of rice retain higher nutritive values than highly polished rice.

Random Minuteman Firing a Success

VANDERBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force fired a missile it picked at random from among the nation's combat-ready Minuteman missile bases.

Crewmen fired it Tuesday—and it lifted off perfectly and streaked west down the Pacific missile range toward an undisclosed target area 5,000 miles away.

Swim Clinic On Saturday At Surf Club

A competitive swim clinic to be conducted at the Surf Club, Saturday morning, June 13, has been announced by Jim Gladback. The clinic will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The session will be conducted by Dave Kerridge, Columbia, who is bringing to the Surf Club some of his young swimmers to demonstrate their training methods and work with local club swimmers on their strokes.

The Columbia swimmers have been quite successful in their inter-city meets and are one of the better swim teams of the Central Missouri area.

Missouri and Cal To Clash Tonight

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Missouri's tourney-wise seniors are in good position in their third shot at an NCAA baseball crown but Coach Hi Simmons is wary of Southern Cal, a team he's never beaten in the college world series.

USC's defending champions, 40-13, had to use their two best pitchers to win a rain-suspended game from Mississippi 3-2. Walt Paterson went four innings Monday night and Larry Fisher finished Tuesday night.

This disrupted their pitching rotation for tonight's big one with Missouri, which was impressive in whipping Arizona State 7-0 on Keith Weber's seven-hitter. It was Missouri's 23rd straight victory in a 24-3 season.

In the first winner's bracket game tonight, Minnesota, 28-11, faces Maine, 19-6. In the loser's bracket this afternoon, Texas A&M, 19-7, meets Seton Hall, 24-4, and Mississippi, 24-6, faces Arizona State, 43-6.

"Southern Cal is a mighty good club," Simmons said.

"They are well seasoned and make no false moves."

USC eliminated Missouri in the fourth round last year, 12-3. The Trojans beat Simmons' club in 12 innings for the 1958 championship.

The white-haired 58-year-old Missouri coach is in his sixth college world series. His Tigers won the 1954 NCAA crown and finished second in 1952 and 1958.

He declines to compare teams, but it's obvious he's happier about his pitching than last year. The Big Eight champs have six seniors playing in their third straight NCAA tourney.

"I just might start Dennis Musgraves—he's a pretty cool customer for a sophomore," Simmons said.

"USC has seven right-handed batters and he throws right. But it might be Jack Stroud."

Musgraves has a 6-1 record and 0.36 earned run average, Stroud 7-1 and 1.51.

Missouri was ranked No. 1 in the final poll of the nation's college baseball coaches, Arizona a narrow second, Ole Miss third, USC fourth. A record college world series crowd of 10,458 watched them.

Weber rationed seven hits, in blanking Arizona State, with a team batting mark of .316—best in the tourney. But he walked five and needed some outstanding defensive plays to go all the way. He has a 10-1 record and 0.66 ERA.

He also has traded away some mighty familiar faces—quarterback Norman Snead, defensive end Andy Stynchula and halfback Dick James.

The Redskin coach-general manager told a news conference that the addition of Coia and Williams make severy position "pretty solid" for next fall. He added, "We don't have any glaring weakness."

said that the doctors had ordered Ramos to avoid all boxing routine until September. He will be under medical supervision.

The Heartbreaks from Viet Nam

By BERNARD GAVZER
Associated Press Writer

There were three men who went far away and were killed. One was a soldier's soldier. One loved history and wanted to be a professor.

One longed only to be home.

Following their own stars dreaming their own dreams, 1st Lt. Charles M. Hasper, Capt. Donald E. Koelper and Pfc. Carl Grimes came along separate paths to a common destiny.

They were killed in South Viet Nam.

—In Fort Madison, Iowa, Constance Hasper, a woman with large dark eyes, talks of a husband with pride, and her eyes fall upon their 2-year-old, Tracy, who is clogging across the linoleum in miniature combat boots and a camouflage suit. She looks at the scuff marks, smiles wistfully, and says, "I thought I'd never see those black marks again. I used to tell Marty to take off his combat boots because they made marks on the linoleum."

—In Northbrook, Ill., Mrs. Rudy Koelper talks about her son, Don, and says, "We are Missouri Synod Lutherans and we are faithful in our religion. I believe it was his time. His time had come. What disturbed me mostly was why did it happen twice in our family?" Her brother, Victor Sander, was killed in combat in Germany in World War II.

—In Fond du Lac, Wis., a 20-year-old girl with red-blond hair cradles a 7½-month-old boy in her lap. She is Jacqueline Grimes. She looks at her baby with tear-filled eyes, calls him "Chris" and says, "Carl never saw Chris. He left three weeks before Chris was born."

First Lt. Charles (Marty) Hasper was 23. He was pilot of an HU-1B helicopter, called a "Huey." "He loved the military life," says his widow, Connie. "He always said he'd stay in until he was so old they'd have to drag him out by the heels. Most of all, he loved flying. He could eat, drink, sleep flying."

On Jan. 17, he went on his third mission of the day — his 369th in Viet Nam — an "eagle flight" in the Mekong delta. The idea of an eagle flight is to make the Viet Cong shoot and expose their position to follow-up Viet Nam troops. Lt. Hasper drew fire. He went down in flames.

Capt. Donald E. Koelper was 32. He was a Marine advisor to the republic of Viet Nam's 4th Marine Battalion. He was a Civil War and World War II buff. After more than six months in combat, he told James Pickrell, a writer for the Marine Corps Gazette, that he wasn't so much concerned about combat as about what might happen because of the wild Jeep drivers. Jokingly, he told Pickrell: "My only real fear is being killed in a Jeep accident."

On Feb. 16, he was in the lobby of the King-Do movie theater in Saigon when he saw a terrorist plant a bomb. Don Koelper ran into the theater, yelling, "Everyone get down. There's a bomb!" The bomb exploded and Don Koelper was killed by a piece of masonry. He was promoted to major after his death and awarded the Navy Cross.

Pfc. Carl Grimes was 23. He was in the headquarters company of an aviation battalion. When he went overseas, he thought he was going to be stationed in Hawaii. He hated Viet Nam. He had a foreboding. But he ticked off his days and wrote home: "163 more days to go," "141 more days to go."

On May 5, he was one of 10 Americans aboard a U.S. Army Caribou transport. The pilot was so anxious to get under way from Tan Hiep to Saigon that he left five U.S. soldiers trying to hitch a ride standing on the airstrip. The transport got aloft, an engine caught fire, the plane crashed in a rice paddy. Pfc. Grimes' last letter had begun "113 more days."

As a kid, Marty Hasper didn't simply grow, he zoomed.

"He grew too fast," says his mother, Gloris Hasper of Keokuk. "And he didn't have any coordination then. I think he may have lacked self-confidence then. I remember he tried basketball because he was so tall. He tried and tried, but he couldn't do it. The day he quit basketball was the happiest day of his life."

Don Koelper was the eldest of four boys. His brothers didn't just look up to him; they loved him. So did others. Don was very popular. The girls in Northbrook High voted him "the cutest boy in high school."

"Don was very good in sports, and very good with books," says his father, Rudy, a balding, stocky man of 52, whose eyes keep watering as he talks. "When he was about 10 he started writing a daily journal about World War II. He kept writing his Uncle Victor, who was overseas, to ask him about the war and Don got the last letter Victor ever wrote. Don and his next younger brother, Del, would dig foxholes and play behind the house, using corn cobs for hand grenades."

Carl Grimes was a whiz at track. He set the Fond du Lac record for the high hurdles at 14.3 seconds and for a time held the Central High record for the low hurdles at 19.8 seconds. In football, he was second-leading ground-gainer with 211 yards in 1958.

"Carl had to give up sports when he injured his shoulder in football at Winona State in Minnesota," says his father, Paul. "Carl changed to a business administration course and transferred to Oshkosh State." He left school when he was a junior to go into service.

Marty Hasper drove from Keokuk to Fort Madison one night and went on a blind date with Connie Rashid, a girl of Lebanese extraction.

"From the first day, I never went out with anyone else," says Connie, "and I don't think Marty did either. He used to come over here on the average of five times a week, on the old road from Keokuk. That was 25 miles one way. We went together two years before we got married, but one year of that courtship was through letters because Marty went into the service."

Don Koelper went to the beach near Pasadena, Calif., one day. He had a date who had a girl friend and that girl friend was a knockout. She was a secretary, Nancy Margerum, 20.

"I don't know exactly when it happened, but Don came home on leave for Christmas and went right back so he could be with Nancy for New Year's," recalls his mother. "They got engaged New Year's Eve. In August, it would have been eight years they'd been married."

Carl Grimes was in and out of Kresge's for a coke. He was working 50 and 60 hours a week in the Super Value store and going to Oshkosh State and still he found time enough to stop into Kresge's. The attraction was a tall girl with blue eyes. Her name was Jackie.

"I was working as a fountain waitress," says Jackie, "and he came in every day and sat at my station. Finally, I introduced myself to him. We went together eight months and got married."

Don Koelper had finished a year at Carthage College and decided to work for a year before going on. Then he was drafted and the day he went down to answer the call, they were asking for Marine volunteers. He volunteered. He was 20.

"Even in the service, Don was always doing something to learn more and to help others," says Rudy Koelper. "He went through the Airborne, Pathfinder and Army Special Forces schools and had a month tour in the Congo and was in Germany for a month. Still and all, he was coaching football with kids during his off-time. He could speak French very well, and manage in German. When he was stationed in Washington, D.C., he went to the University of Maryland and needed six hours credit to get his degree. He was going to be a history professor."

Carl Grimes knew he'd have to go into the service, so he enlisted, figuring to get it out of the way and then start setting himself up in life. He thought his experience as an athlete might help him get a coaching job if he returned to school. That was his plan, as far as it went.

"We didn't have much time together," says Jackie Grimes.

HIGH STYLE FOR GINA—When Gina Lollobrigida, the sultry Italian star, steps before the cameras in her next film, she is dressed in high fashion—blouse, hat and purse of leopard fur. Gina wears the creations in the new movie, "Strange Bedfellows."

Her mementos are testimony to the paltry days they shared together — a photo album and more than 300 letters. They had had but 23 days together.

Marty Hasper was great for the outdoors. Because he was tall and skinny, he liked to think of himself sometimes, jokingly of course, as Gary Cooper. He loved horses, dogs, motorcycles. "After Marty finished training, he thought he was being paid for doing nothing and that's why he was so happy when he was sent to Viet Nam," says Connie Hasper. "He wrote me, 'At long last I'm earning my pay.'"

Don Koelper wrote his wife, Nancy, almost every day, and wrote his parents once a week. The things about war and about responsibility and about serving people who needed it always emerged in his letters.

"I will not say anything about the war because I have no words to describe it. It is as dirty and filthy as anything you can imagine," he wrote, and then added, "should we for some reason stop supporting these people we would pay for our own shortsightedness at a later date—and I do this thing I'm doing here for one and one purpose only—so my sons don't have to!"

Carl Grimes, ready to leave the United States, wrote Jackie that as soon as the baby was old enough to travel she should come meet him in Hawaii. But a week later, Jackie received a telephone call from him.

"He said he was going to Viet Nam, not Hawaii," she says, forlornly. And Carl's father says "That was the one place he did not want to go. Even in basic training, he always said he didn't want to go to Viet Nam."

Marty Hasper loved the military life and brought some of it into his own home. He was a tary hospital. That was the way Don and she had planned it. When Don Koelper was sent to Viet Nam, he wrote his father:

"I'm certain you know that leaving those two fellows was the hardest thing I've ever done in my life—they just couldn't understand that I wouldn't be right back. Donald added his own little brand of logic to my leaving by telling me that we should hurry and kill all the bad people over there so they could go to heaven and I could come home."

Carl Grimes left the country three weeks before Christopher was born. In his letters, he was full of questions and chatter that floods from first-time fathers, asking about size and weight and color of hair and crying and teeth. He had many photos of Chris.

"I'd take pictures of the baby every five weeks and send them to Carl," says Jackie. "After a while, he had so many, he sent some home for me to put in an album."

Connie Hasper was alone the night of Jan. 18, a Saturday. It was about midnight when a taxi cab stopped outside the white frame house on Avenue F in Fort Madison. The driver came to the door, handed her a telegram and left.

"I think they should have sent it to my father or to someone to bring it to me," says Connie. "I couldn't believe it and I couldn't not believe it. I called this cousin of Marty's, Stacey Baleu in Burlington, and then tried my dad and then my uncle, who came right over."

Marty's mother also was alone and says, "My first impulse was to take off and run. All I could think of was getting to Connie."

Rudy and Mrs. Koelper were in their house in Northbrook, a suburb north of Chicago, watching the 10 p.m. news the night of Feb. 16 when they heard the report that a Marine captain was killed when trying to warn people about a bomb in a Saigon movie.

"Tears ran down our cheeks," Rudy Koelper says. "We knew there were not many Marine captains in Viet Nam, and we knew that Don was the sort who would risk his life to help others."

Jacqueline Grimes was at her mother's home on Tuesday, May 5. "Carl and I never had a chance to make our own home so I stayed with my mother or with Carl's dad and mother or with Carl's brother, Neil, and his wife, Donna."

"It was 1:25 p.m.," Jackie says, "when I got the telephone call."

Her words faltered and her

PASTORALE BY MOONLIGHT—"Shepherd of Manali," first-prize photo in fifth annual contest sponsored by Pacific Area Travel Assn., was taken in Manali, a sheep-raising area at the extreme northern tip of India, in the foothills of the Himalayas. T. Kasi Nath, of New Delhi, is the photographer.

voice broke and fresh tears came and she looked at her baby and marveled, "Chris has been so good this week. It's as though he understands and doesn't want to trouble me."

Watching her little boy, Tracy, romp around in his camouflage suit with its nameplate reading "Hasper" and carrying plastic weapons that look real enough to fire real bullets, Connie Hasper says:

"I want Tracy to grow up and go into the Army and become an officer and a pilot. I'm real proud of Marty and I want the same thing for Tracy, even if it means some day he will have to go to some nasty little place and get killed."

Rudy Koelper studies his work-worn hands to conceal the embarrassment over his tears.

"You know, it's funny, you think to yourself that a man my age would not cry. I can't help it." He takes long, deep breaths and moves his hands as though he can measure the emptiness.

"You just have memories to live with. It's — it's another chapter in life, I guess."

Paul Grimes' face is set as though he will show no man the measure of his grief. Eighteen months before, he lost another son, Norman, who was in the Navy and was killed in an automobile accident in California.

He thinks of his boys and of Carl and says: "Everybody was crazy about him down at the store."

Lowering Cost Per Unit Is Saving Money for Consumer

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Rising metal prices reflect both the increasing industrial demand and higher production costs. So far little of the rise has been passed along to the consumer. Manufacturers have been able to lower the labor cost per unit of output.

Thus basic commodity price increases in themselves don't necessarily spell general inflation.

Involved have been steel, aluminum, copper, zinc, lead, tin. The creeping advance has been stretched over the last 12 months.

At first the increases were on selected products in active demand. Weakness in other products has brought price cuts.

But basic metal prices are now beginning to rise. Latest are aluminum ingots which are going up half a cent to 24 cents a pound, or back to where they were in December 1962, but still short of the 26 cents a pound of September 1961.

The cautious approach in aluminum and some other metals has been dictated by competition both at home and abroad.

Praise Signing Of Livestock Agreements

Congressman William J. Randall has expressed great satisfaction at a positive step taken to benefit the nation's livestock and meat industry.

The Congressman praised the recent signing of an agreement aimed at building sales of U.S. livestock products, beef, and other meat products in Western Europe and the United Kingdom. The agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the American Meat Institute, acting on behalf of the entire U. S. livestock and meat industry, calls for a market development program authorizing a wide range of beef promotional activities by the Institute and associated U. S. livestock and meat groups.

Mr. Randall was particularly pleased to point out that the market development agreement would start almost immediately. Among the first steps will be an exhibit in June of typical displays of American beef at London's famed Smithfield Market. Meat exhibits and trade conferences are also scheduled for the international trade fairs to be held in Hamburg, Germany, August 14-23 and Paris, France, November 8-16.

Other related steps to expand American beef sales include: market investigations to locate potential markets for U. S. livestock products; providing both U. S. suppliers and foreign buyers with marketing information; arranging visits to the U.S. of teams of potential buyers; and distribution of promotional materials abroad.

Countries where developmental activity will take place include the United Kingdom, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Spain. In each of these countries, meat supplies are lower than normal and prices to consumers are unusually high.

The market development agreement stems directly from a Presidential Mission on Beef which returned to the U.S. on May 13, after a ten day European trip. The Mission told President Johnson that the rising standards of living in Europe have resulted in increased demands for beef.

Leaders of the cattle and beef industry and meat experts will be asked to serve as members of special advisory committees for the promotional project. Representative members of the National Independent Meat Packers Association; Western States Meat Packers Association; the National Livestock and Meat Board; and the USDA National Advisory Committee on Cattle will also be asked to work cooperatively in promoting overseas sales of American beef.

Many metal producers have indicated no hurry to cripple demand by pricing their products higher than the substitutes which increasingly plague them.

Technological advances have brought individual metals in competition with each other for particular uses. Price often can be the determining factor with purchasing agents.

Metals are peculiarly tied to developments in foreign lands. Sometimes this is surplus capacity to produce, so that foreign output rises automatically with world demand, leaving American producers right where they were competitively. Often cheaper production costs abroad threaten American metal price structures.

'One Potato, Two Potato' Ignores Odds

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last year it was "David and Lisa." This year "One Potato, Two Potatoes" is the Cinderella movie.

Both films were created against great odds by tyro movie makers using unknown actors and authentic backgrounds. Both were treated like orphans until film festival honors stirred interest in their commercial possibilities.

"One Potato, Two Potatoes" was made by two veterans of Hollywood television — producer Sam Weston, 36, lookalike brother of comedian Jack Weston, and director Larry Pearce, 34, son of famed tenor Jan Pearce. Yet the film is not of Hollywood, nor does it deal with a subject that the major studios would ordinarily touch.

Its theme is miscegenation. A white Midwestern divorcee with a daughter marries a fellow factory worker who is a Negro. Her first husband appears after having deserted her, and he sues for custody of the child. The judge decides in favor of the father.

Weston told about the two-year ordeal in getting "One Potato, Two Potatoes" financed, filmed and finally looked at.

First came the matter of money. With a large assist from Larry's mother, an expert fund raiser for charity, the two boys lined up a list of likely backers. They had to sell the prospects on contributing, then return to collect after they had organized as a limited partnership.

Filming started last August on the script, written by veteran author Raphael Hayes. It was shot in 34 days at Painesville, Ohio, which Weston remembered from his youth as a "typical, Grant Wood type of Midwest town." Actors were recruited from Hollywood and New York and in Painesville as well.

The novice film makers' troubles weren't over. After putting the movie together, they found they couldn't sell it.

"Distributors liked the picture but they didn't know what to do with it," said Weston. "And they were worried about losing the Southern market."

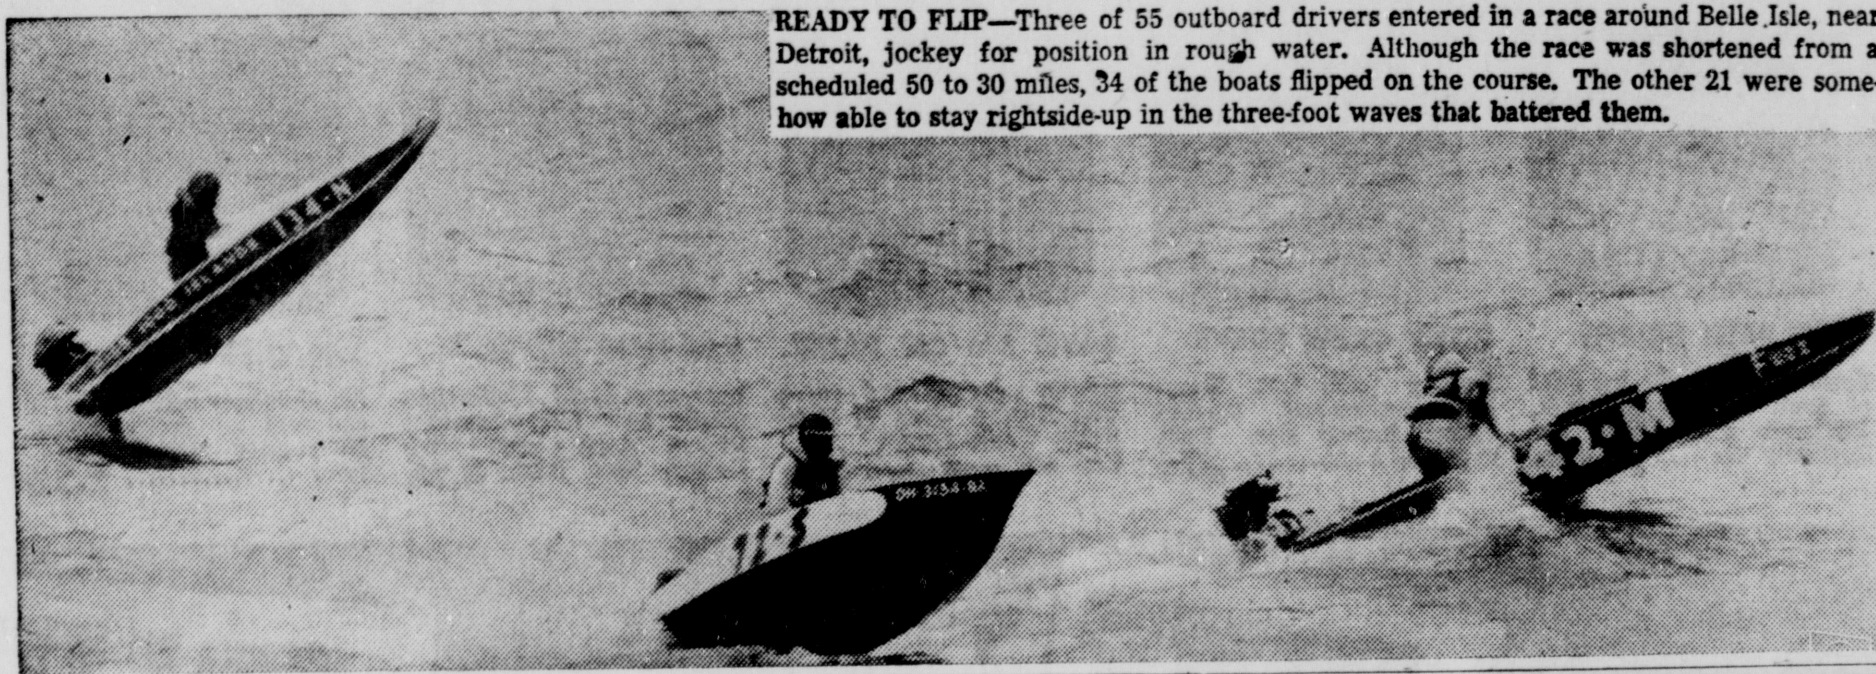

But an agent liked the film and showed it to British Lion, which bought the world rights. Then came the Cannes Film Festival, where "One Potato, Two Potatoes" drew the biggest ovation in nine years and Barbara Barrie was co-winner of the best actress award. Now Weston and Pearce are ready to reap the rewards of their adventure.

Book Review Given For Ho'makers Club

Mrs. Grace Potter reviewed a book at the June 3 meeting of Clifton City Homemakers Club at the home of Mrs. Ellen Dove.

The morning was spent visiting. Mrs. Dove, president, presided in the afternoon. The hostess opened gifts.

Games were played and a July picnic was discussed.

READY TO FLIP—Three of 55 outboard drivers entered in a race around Belle Isle, near Detroit, jockey for position in rough water. Although the race was shortened from a scheduled 50 to 30 miles, 34 of the boats flipped on the course. The other 21 were somehow able to stay rightside-up in the three-foot waves that battered them.

THE MAN AMPLIFIER—Why not figure out a way to increase man's physical capabilities by attaching little motors to him and let them provide the muscle power? Good idea, said scientists at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, N.Y. So they devised an external "skeleton" which can make a superman out of a mere mortal. The motors strapped to the man in the above photo amplify his normal muscular actions so that he can lift and move objects too heavy for circus strong men. These motors aren't powered yet. The scientists are working on it.

Truth of Battle Elusive As Age Clouds Memories

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody remembers war altogether as it happened. No one can tell the truth of a battlefield.

They forget its actuality as they grow older, and change it to suit their age.

Nobody can find out the true story of combat, not even five minutes after an event occurs.

A battlefield is a great mystery while it is being fought. No one has the full story then or later.

There is an involvement with the enemy. The chaos of clash is immediate; it can never be accurately reassembled by recall. Too much happens all at once.

That is why I feel a bit sorry for those who went back to Normandy last week for the 20th anniversary of one of mankind's more memorable military adventures.

Going back to a place you knew in war is a journey even more lonesome in peace than it was when the ignition of danger and the purpose of a mutual endeavor threw a glare upon the commonplace. You can never quite find what you look for.

I found this to be true when I went back to France five years after it was invaded by the Allies. I found it even more true when I went back 10 years after.

It was my wish to return again last week two decades after those strident days of thunder and nights of flare when the breaking of the St. Lo position wheeled the Allies toward victory.

But I knew it would be a visit into the lost, a stroll into legend. The moment a situation in war changes, it is gone forever. The fact of war defeats the recognition of it.

In combat, more than anywhere else in life, you can never go home again. There are too many variances of viewpoints for them ever to be fully reconciled.

Two return to the scene of action. Even if it be but an hour all is different. What actually happened there? One knows a part of it, another knows another part of it, and neither knows all.

Once the bodies are picked up, the blood is dried, the position is changed, the vehicles are regrouped, the possible truth is forever gone.

Give a battlefield a few days, or months, or years, and what really happened there is even more impossible to find out.

The soldier returns and looks across a field where the grass and trees have renewed their greenery and forgotten their scars; where the stinking bodies of cows inflated by death have been removed, where a farmer walks in duty where a foe once held a direness.

The soldier says: "Yes, it was there that I, we, or, no, was it over there that? Anyway, I'll never forget—Don't you remember that the both of us—I think you were with me when—it all comes back so clear that—"

Landscapes forget the people who fight across them. People who try to remember the landscapes they fought across can never come back afterward and be quite sure that this is the exact place where once they felt they learned more about life and death than they ever could afterward.

Wheat Price Support Rate Set for County

The price-support loan and purchase rate for 1964-crop wheat in Pettis County will be $1.37 per bushel, Samuel Hieronymus, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee has announced. Information on price-support rates for wheat stored in terminals is available at the ASCS County Office.

The chairman explained that this support will be available to all growers who stay within their farm's 1964 wheat allotment. A grower who, in addition, signed up before the May 22 deadline and who carries out all other provisions of the 1964 wheat program, will be able to qualify also for marketing certificates on a large part of his crop which could bring as much as one-third more income for his wheat. Certificates are worth 70 cents a bushel on wheat for domestic food use and 25 cents on wheat for export. Diversion payments likewise will be available to program participants on acreage diverted from wheat to soil-conserving uses.

Information on premiums and discounts, on sedimentation and protein tests, and on other operating and fee provisions, is also available at the ASCS County Office.

Democracy Is Compromise

A new game is sweeping the country. It's called "Do-It-Yourself Justice" (or sometimes "Majority vs. Minority"). Any number can play.

It begins when one person or group of persons says, "Give me what I want—right now—or I will walk in, sit in, study in, wade in, kneel in, march in until you do."

The other side replies, "Go ahead, but don't blame us if you get your head broken."

By the strange rules of the game, when someone says he is going to go somewhere you don't want him to go, or do something you don't want him to do, he is "inciting to violence" and you may feel free (if you have the larger mob at your back) to indulge in violence against that person or his property of any innocent bystander.

The popularity of the game is not confined to any one part of the country. It was played in the City of Brotherly Love when a minority, threatened violence, dictated the manner in which a supposedly festive parade was to be held.

It was played in Cleveland when the mere prospect of minority picketing in front of a school inflamed a majority and set off a mob scene.

As is typical in these matches, most of the violence was inflicted upon passersby or newsmen (at odds of 100 to one), for the pickets never showed up.

This is the trouble with do-it-yourself justice, which is, alas, not a game but all too real. The question of what is right and what is wrong—or what is in between—which is difficult enough to judge in a quiet courtroom or around a conference table, becomes totally lost in a surging sea of emotions.

Violence, once let loose, becomes an end in itself.

Democracy is a compromise, or a groping toward compromise, between the interests of the majority and those of minorities. When the will of one prevails through force or the threat of force, there is not democracy but tyranny.

Dr. Hain will continue to have her office in the Ilgenfritz building, and Miss Harris will continue her duties at the Citizens National Bank, and both will motor to and from Sedalia daily.

Success? Ho Hum.

Remember when the nation's prestige, if not its ultimate survival, depended upon a little 3 1/4-pound ball atop the nose of a Vanguard rocket one day in December 1957?

Well, Vanguard went phht! But the United States didn't.

The latest launching of the Saturn-I—more than 40 times more powerful than the Vanguard and larger than anything the Russians are known to have—flawlessly orbited a 17,000-pound dummy Apollo moon vehicle.

Counting the second stage of the Saturn, which also went into orbit, the total payload

PALO ALSO (Calif.) TIMES: No Surplus of Excellence.

—A problem often ignored in discussions of employment and unemployment is that of quality or excellence—of the job and of the person in it or out of it.

In some businesses or industries people can be lumped into a mass of statistics because their jobs call for the same average level of qualifications and performance. This is not true here today, and is becoming less true all over the country.

Here our businesses and industries call for high levels of performance and qualifications. We have a great number of people in management, in the professions, in jobs requiring high technical skill and extensive education.

When some of these people are displaced they may find it difficult to secure acceptable employment because they are competing for top jobs. The competition for these jobs is great, from people already on the payroll and from the outside.

Employers, of necessity, have to be selective, and they are. They not only want to fill the jobs open, but they want to fill them with the most capable people, the ones with the highest qualifications.

This explains the reason why unemployment figures may rise at a time when some employers are crying that they can't get workers. They can't get the right workers, the people trained for their specific jobs, the people who meet the high standards set for important jobs.

Business and industry could cut their standards, but their leaders know that this is the road to failure. The only answer is more education, better training, greater stress on developing the excellence which will always be in demand in every field.

was 37,300 pounds. A far cry from the grapefruit-sized Vanguard.

So far, in fact, that the feat has apparently failed to register on anyone.

First, we're a bunch of clumps who have had it as a nation and everybody and his uncle jumps on the knock-the-U.S. wagon. Now that we're champs, the silence is deafening.

Kennedy Plans to Run for US Senate

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Despite official denials that President Johnson and Attorney General Kennedy discussed politics during their recent 90-minute huddle, the inside fact is that Kennedy announced he would like to resign from the Justice Department after the civil rights vote and run for the Senate in New York.

The president met alone with Kennedy, carefully excluding White House aides who normally would have been asked to sit in on a discussion of civil rights or other government matters.

What the two men said to each other, therefore, is known only to them. But they have dropped enough hints to aides that the gist of their conversation can now be pieced together.

It is true that civil rights matters were discussed, for the attorney general later passed on to aides a couple of minor decisions. But from three aides in a position to know, this column has also learned that Kennedy notified the president of his desire to resign as attorney general after the civil rights vote and to challenge Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., for his seat.

Kennedy Reasons Revealed

The attorney general was influenced by four factors:

1. He believes the expected passage of the civil rights bill would be a fitting climax to his service in the Justice Department.

2. Private polls, taken in New York before Sen. Barry Goldwater's California victory, gave Kennedy a decisive edge over Keating. Goldwater's emergence as the likely GOP presidential candidate only increases Kennedy's chances and Keating's difficulties.

3. Kennedy was also encouraged by the primary victories of two political proteges, Pierre Salinger in California and Joseph Tydings in Maryland, who ran Kennedy-style campaigns.

4. The closer Goldwater gets to the Republican nomination, the less likely Johnson would be to choose Kennedy as his running mate.

Goldwater has his strongest following in the south. The political theory is that Kennedy would weaken the Democratic ticket in the south and that Johnson could defeat Goldwater in the north without Kennedy's help.

The attorney general has gone through an agonizing soul-searching about his own political future since the martyrdom of his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy.

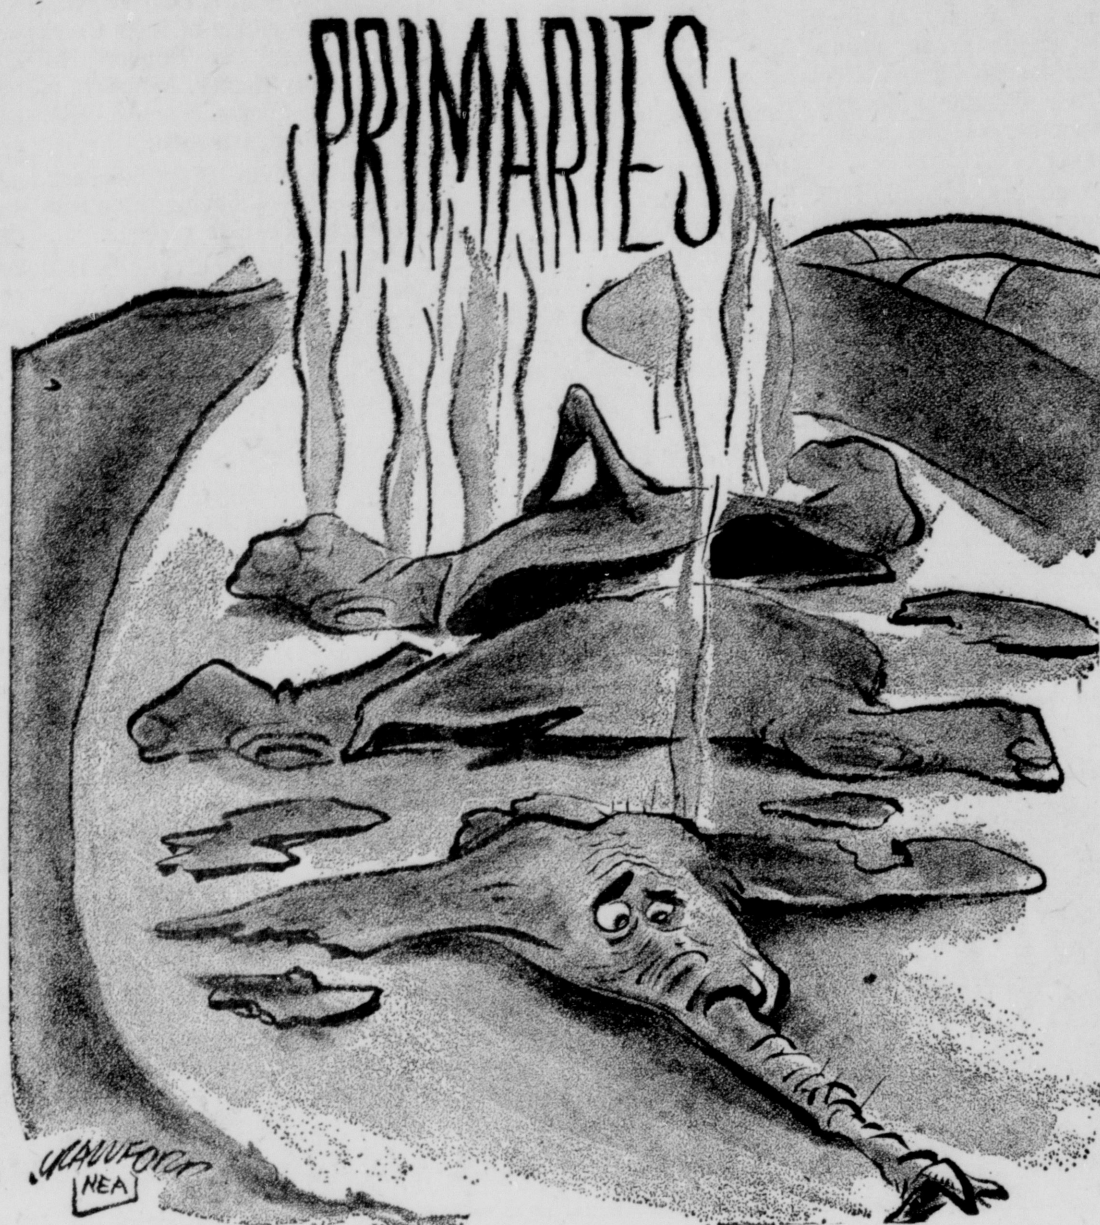

Robert alternately has considered trying for the vice presidential nomination, running for governor of Massachusetts, trying for the Senate in New York, or stepping aside in politics to make way for his younger brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy.

At one point, the attorney general seriously thought he should take control of his father's financial empire and devote himself to making his younger brother the next President Kennedy.

Some advisers even urged the attorney general to challenge Johnson himself for the presidential nomination. They argued that Kennedy had hand-picked most members of the White House staff and the Democratic campaign organization, therefore might be able to elbow aside the president himself at the Democratic convention. There is no reason to believe that Kennedy seriously considered this advice.

He now appears to have decided to take the New York road to elective office.

The World Today

Goldwater Not Always Consistent

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater provided Republican governors with a booklet when some of them wanted clarification on where he stood on the issues. This wasn't a very flattering thing to do to them.

It was like telling them they would know where he stood if they had paid attention and read this booklet: "Sen. Goldwater Speaks Out On the Issues." It had been in circulation nationwide for weeks.

Nevertheless, Goldwater has not always been consistent in what he said over the past few years. This doesn't bother him. He himself has said: "Consistency is not necessarily a virtue."

He said there was something wrong with a public man who didn't change his mind "to meet the developments of the times."

In the 1950s he said former President Harry S. Truman had "fathered all the misdeeds of recent years" and was the "architect of everything wrong with America today."

In 1963, he said America needs another decisive president like Truman who, he thought, would go down in history as one of the greatest presidents.

In 1963, Goldwater, who proudly calls himself a conservative, said the true one seeks progress based on proven values of the past while the "so-called liberal" is one who seeks change for the sake of change alone. In 1964 he said he thinks history will rate him a liberal.

In 1962, he said as president he would seriously consider transporting Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops from Formosa to the Red China mainland for an invasion. But the next year he said the problem was how to get them there.

Last February he was for using warships to halt the shipment of British buses and French products to Cuba but a month later said he would try to discourage Allied trade with

Fidel Castro by "example and use of diplomatic pressure."

In 1961, Goldwater talked of landing armed forces in Cuba to throw out Castro and in 1963 of a blockade, support of Cuban exile attacks, and invasion by the Organization of American States and by "ourselves."

He even thought, he said, he would be for doing "anything necessary to get rid of that cancer (Castro). If it means war, let it mean war." But this year he said "the suggestion that we must either accept communism in Cuba or invade Cuba is defeatist and dangerous nonsense."

He had said it was improper for the government to intervene in school desegregation or to use troops to enforce desegregation orders of the courts. But by last month he changed his view, said "I'm glad when I can recognize I'm wrong."

When he first came to the Senate in 1953, he was all for changing the filibuster rules to cut off lengthy debates. He changed and now says he won't vote to end the anti-civil rights filibuster now in its 75th day.

He said if he was president he would break off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union but last January added he would need Senate approval to do this. He couldn't have been more wrong.

The Senate must approve treaties but not breaking off diplomatic relations.

He stopped advocating putting Social Security on a voluntary basis and now says his only interest in the system is to improve it by making the pension dollar sound. After he lost the New Hampshire primary in March, his campaign manager said his talk of a voluntary Social Security system was a major boner.

He favors getting rid of the "whole graduated income tax" so that rich and poor pay the same percentage of tax. But the American income tax has always been graduated from the time of the first one in Civil War days under President Abraham Lincoln.

In 1962 and 1963, Goldwater favored getting out of the United Nations. By the latter part of 1963, he was for staying in. By 1964 he said he couldn't recall ever having suggested getting out.

Between 1960 and 1964 Goldwater said so many times he would not seek the Republican presidential nomination that as late as Sept. 15, 1963, he said, "I've said a thousand times I'm going to run for the Senate, nothing more."

But just 11 days before that

The Associated Press reported Goldwater had rented the entire 15th floor of a hotel in San Francisco for next month which is when the Republicans hold their nomination convention there.

Then on Jan. 3, 1964, he announced his candidacy and at the same time said he would run for the Senate from Arizona, too, although he had derided Lyndon B. Johnson for running for the vice presidency and the Senate in 1960.

He had said he wouldn't seek both. Now he says he will give up the Senate race if he gets the presidential nomination.

Democrat Pick-ups

TWO WOMEN, neighbors, who had been somewhere for the evening drove up in front of the home of one of them and were sitting there talking for a few minutes.

A car came up, stopped at the side of the house and seeing it, the woman driving said to her companion: "Look, that car stopped — lock your door."

The other woman looked, recognized the car as one of her co-workers getting out with a flashlight. A young boy got out, too, and they both began going around in her yard looking with the flashlight.

"They have lost something," said the woman who lived there and since one of the youngsters in the family had mowed the yard the day before she thought it must be something off the mower. "I'll go turn on the light. I wish I had a yard light."

"I'll go home and turn on my yard lights," said her friend and away she went, while the other woman went into her house, turned on her lights and went out in her back yard.

"Guess you know what we are looking for," said the man — "night crawlers."

Around and around they went with the flashlight close to the ground looking for worms, gently pulling them out of the ground if they were not on top, and putting them into a can.

In the car was the man's wife.

"People will think they are crazy," she said, "going over the yard like that with a flashlight."

It gave her the same feeling that she had when she had seen a member of her family one time out sowing grass seed in the middle of the night in a snowstorm. And the other woman recalled that someone in

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Lightheadedness Often Has Underlying Cause

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Q — What causes lightheadedness and what can be done for it?

A — Lightheadedness is a feeling of faintness without actual loss of consciousness as in true fainting. It may be associated with a sudden emotional shock, a sudden change of position (as in getting out of bed too fast), prolonged standing, hunger, lack of sleep, recovery from a severe illness, extremes of heat or cold, loss of blood (as with a nosebleed), a blow in the abdomen, severe pain, exposure to noxious fumes, excessive deep breathing (hyperventilation) and an overdose of insulin or various other drugs.

The underlying cause is a lowering of the blood pressure and the resultant failure of your brain to receive enough oxygen. At the first sign of lightheadedness you should lie down or sit down and put your head between your knees.

If you fail to do this you may faint and fall, injuring your head. Smelling salts are sometimes used to restore the blood pressure or a small dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia may be given in a glass of water. If you have these attacks often, you should have a thorough checkup so that your doctor can determine the cause.

Q — I am 35 years old. When I was a child I had rheumatic fever which damaged my heart.

I took digitalis for more than 10 years. Four years ago, after extensive heart tests I was taken off the digitalis and put on Atarax. What does this drug do? Is it harmful to take it for such a long time?

A — Hydroxyzine (Atarax) is an antihistamine that has been used experimentally to control some irregularities of the pulse. It also lessens anxiety and nervous tension. Four years seems like a long time to take it but, if the dose is properly adjusted and if it helps you, its continued use would not harm you.

Q — What causes a blood vessel to break in the white of the eye?

A — Hemorrhage in the white of the eye may be caused by a blow to the eye, inflammation of the eyeball, or a sudden strain as in sneezing or coughing. It may occur at any age but is relatively common in elderly persons with hardening of the arteries. It may also occur without any apparent cause. The blood is reabsorbed in about 10 days and no treatment is required.

Q — What causes torus palatinus? Does it ever get cancerous? Is there a remedy for it?

A — Torus is a protuberance on the hard palate that is present from birth. It is just a deviation from the normal rather than a disease. No treatment is necessary. It does not lead to cancer.

The Mature Parent

He Postpones Studying

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: We have a boy, 16, who can hand in good school work when he studies. The trouble is that he postpones studying for his important assignments like test reviews and term papers until the very last minute. Then he goes wild and nearly drives everybody around him crazy. Though I try to help him in these crises, nothing I say can make him see that he creates them by delaying his preparation.

Answer: If you are honestly convinced that nothing you can say can teach your son the connection between his procrastination and his last-minute panics, you'll stop talking. You'll stop hovering around him with book references and anxious sympathy (mingled with "I told you so" complaints). You'll stop feeling his panics for him.

The young, you know, can as easily fall into the habit of expecting us to experience their anxieties for them as they can get into the habit of borrowing our money when they overspend allowances. It is not pleasant to have to confront the last-minute production of term papers. But if they know that they can always count on our sympathy and help, the production stops being merely an unpleasant chore and is turned into a rank injustice — an outrage inflicted on them by outside force.

As you say yourself, the unpleasantness is imposed on your son by himself.

But so long as you rally around with your own sympathetic anxieties, this fact cannot become apparent to him. He is spared the full experience of his own discomfort—the worry he needs to experience if he is to say to himself, "Never again will I let myself get into this spot with a term paper!"

But your boy's education in responsibility should not be our sole consideration here.

We get tired of feeling every anxiety that belongs to children. If we don't register our irritation at their insistence on involving us in the consequences of poor preparation of term papers, it can become resentment—and we fall into the very irresponsibility of which we complain. We blame them for overburdening us. We make them the external cause for our anxiety just as they make school the external cause for theirs.

Both men had come home late and to the disgusted statement that people would think they were crazy sowing grass seed in the middle of the night in a snowstorm, both had made the same reply: "But they say that the best time to sow grass seed is in the snow."

About that time the man and boy came up with the big can half full of worms, pleased as they could be. The next night they were going fishing. They had their bait and that is why the early bird catches the worm. Those silly worms wiggle around all night and don't get home before the early birds wake up. But the worm does not have a chance. DEAR POLLY — In times of death or sudden illness, friends often wonder what they can do to help. Mine is a list of some of the things our wonderful friends did when we suffered a sudden loss.

One drove me to town for some necessary shopping. Another stayed at our home to be with the children and take any phone calls that came. Still another raked the falling leaves and tidied up the yard. A friend who is not too well herself asked to do our extra linens in her washer-dryer. Another pressed clothes, cleaned and shined the family's shoes. Of course, there were the many, many welcome gifts of food, all prepared and ready to serve.—MRS. O. W.

DEAR POLLY — Summer vacations are upon us, so perhaps this will help those taking small children on long car trips. I take my television trays off their stands and put one for each child in the car. The tray serves as a desk and keeps crayon, books and so on from falling to the floor each time a corner is turned or a sudden stop is made. They are also wonderful for catching cookie and cracker crumbs.—MAXINE

BERRY'S WORLD

"Gentlemen, let's face it... after Oregon and California we can consider ourselves a non-prophet organization!"

UN Leaving Congo

By ROBIN MANNOCK
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Lights burn late at U.N. headquarters in Leopoldville. Senior officers of the world organization's Congo army wear harassed and even guilty looks. The Congo apparently is heading for dark and violent days, but they are getting out. By June 30, the Congo's fourth independence day, the last of 3,405 U.N. soldiers from 12 nations will have gone home, their job finished.

Finished?
In Kivu, on the Congo's eastern border, Communist-backed pygmy-like Bafulero warriors routed five companies of Congolese soldiers and threatened Bukavu, the provincial capital. At Albertville, capital of North Katanga, a short-lived revolt against Provincial President Jason Sendwe took more than 100 lives. Wives of two U.N. civilians were raped.

Farther west, young warriors invaded the South Kasai town of Mwene-Ditu and murdered five citizens by forcing them to swallow chili-pili, a tiny, fiendishly hot red pepper used to season food.

To the north, Stanleyville, once the late Premier Patrice Lumumba's area and still a hotbed of extremism, seethes with discontent. The central government has named a resident minister to supervise Provincial President Paul Isombuma, deposed by his provincial assembly but reinstated by Leopoldville.

In the center, Peking-trained ex-Education Minister Pierre Mulele leads a rebellion in Kivu. His warriors also burn and kill in neighboring provinces.

In Leopoldville, nightfall turns more than 1.2 million people into prisoners inside their homes.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew is the government's answer to plastic bomb attacks against churches, electric power installations and the capital's railroad to the sea. Saboteurs made an unsuccessful bid to blow down the wall of Makala prison in broad daylight.

Across the river in Brazzaville, capital of the Congo's sister republic, exiled extremists plot Premier Cyrille Adoula's violent overthrow, bribing soldiers to act as hired assassins.

"These are the darkest days since 1960," declares one high U.N. officer, recalling the Congolese army mutiny only seven days after independence which sent the country into an orgy of killing, looting, raping, destruction and secession.

That brought the United Nations here.

Morgan County Fair Operates In Mid-August

The date for the annual Morgan County Fair, sponsored by Versailles Lions Club, has been set for Aug. 12-15, according to Bill Cain, chairman of the fair board.

A horse show will be held the first two nights of the fair. Reed Moore is chairman of the horse show.

Judging of dairy cattle in front of the grandstand will be Friday evening, Aug. 14. In connection with cattle judging, there will be a Pig Scramble in which contestants will try to catch greased pigs. Dave White is chairman of the scramble.

A tractor rodeo will be held Saturday afternoon, Aug. 15, and on that day, carnival rides will be priced lower.

Campbell Shows, a carnival, has been engaged for the midway.

Saturday night, Aug. 14, an old fiddlers' contest will be held in front of the grandstand, with John Nelson, chairman. Tentative plans call for a hootenanny to be held an hour preceding the fiddlers' contest.

Concerts will be given each evening at 7 p.m. by the high school band.

Awards will be given for agriculture, 4-H, home economics and livestock entries.

Its rank and file soldiers do not try to conceal their impatience to be gone. Departure dates are ringed with red on wall calendars.

It can be argued that putting down the rebellions in Kivu and Kwilu is no business of the United Nations.

"Lots of countries have internal security problems," says a U.N. political official who insists on remaining anonymous. "We have to leave one day—we can't stay here forever."

To a large extent, the Congo's present woes are unfinished business. Four years of crisis-ridden independence have been too short to solve deep-rooted tribal, political and economic questions.

Add to this the bewilderment of the ordinary Congolese trying desperately to belong to the 20th century. All the wisdom of his tribal forebears means nothing when he confronts the complexities of modern society.

Add to this a leadership crisis that was inevitable the day this vast, rich nation was handed by its Belgian colonial rulers to 14 million people of whom less than a score had university degrees and even fewer any real experience of accepting responsibility.

Almost all observers are agreed that Adoula and some of his close collaborators have grown in political stature in battling for survival.

But their measures to keep the country afloat have been misunderstood by the bulk of Congolese. The leaders are unpopular.

Piling on the agony is the inefficiency of corruption, laziness and tribal favoritism displayed by the administration Adoula commands. He rarely knows whether his subordinates will obey him. Ministers fight viciously among themselves.

Next comes racism. Most Congolese know that their country cannot survive without help from white technicians. But they resent it.

Fifty-three members of Otterville 4-H Club and guests met June 4 for a wiener roast and meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wallenburn and children, Judy and Jimmy, Otterville.

A committee was appointed to make plans for the club project tour. Members are Debbie Bremmer, Steve Gardner and Beverly Oswald, with Joe Wallenburn as adult advisor.

Jimmy Wallenburn gave a demonstration on grooming a calf. A report on Rural Life Sunday, May 3, in Buncheon, was made by Jackie Gochenour. Col. W. H. McKnight, reported on County 4-H Council.

A discussion was given by Jim Stanaway, county youth agent, on 4-H camp, County Achievement Day and Local Achievement Day.

A card was signed to be sent to Yvonne Otten, a member who is a patient at the University of Missouri Medical Center, Columbia.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gochenour. Mrs. Gochenour is president of Otterville Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the club.

Jimmy Wallenburn presided. Pledges were led by Judy Wallenburn and Steve Gardner. Roll call was answered by 18 members, with riddles.

Top this off with a lavish dash of cold war—Peking style. Most experts on communism here are convinced the Chinese are flexing their muscles in Africa, probing for weaknesses.

The sum of all these factors equals indifference by a lot of Congolese toward their country's ultimate fate.

Perhaps the greatest tragedy is that the Congo, thanks to energetic government measures and foreign aid, was on the brink of economic recovery when assailed by the Communist-supported revolts in Kwilu and Kivu.

Theory of Evolution Vote On Tennessee Election List

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Thirty-nine years ago a jury was asked to decide whether the theory of evolution should be taught in the schools of Tennessee.

This November, half a million voters may decide whether the Darwinian theory should be taught in the schools of Arizona.

The famed "monkey trial" of 1925 was staged in the Tennessee hamlet of Dayton with a young biology teacher — John Scopes — the central figure. Scopes deliberately violated an anti-evolution law to force the court test.

For Arizona, the trial may be staged in voting booths. Behind the test is the Rev. Aubrey Moore, a Southern Baptist minister who once said, "Either God is a liar or evolution is a liar."

Moore is circulating petitions to place on the general election ballot a proposed state constitutional amendment to prohibit the teaching of evolution in public schools.

He needs 54,876 signatures to bring the measure before the voters.

Moore says he has 7,000 petitions in circulation and expects at least one-half to be returned. Each petition contains the space for 20 signatures.

The Moore proposal already has driven a wedge into the ranks of the Arizona clergy.

Forty-three Methodist ministers and Rabbi Albert Plotkin of Temple Beth Israel, Phoenix, issued a letter attacking a ban on the teaching of evolution.

The Tennessee jury of four decades ago found Scopes guilty and fined him $100.

Moore's proposal calls for a fine of $100 to $500 with automatic revocation of a violator's teaching certificate.

Arizona's fight over evolution started last fall when Harold Bates of Phoenix, member of the Nazarene Church, appeared before the State Board of Education.

He said schools were using science books that offered contents in conflict with the Bible. He insisted if evolution could not be barred, then teachers should take the initiative in excusing from classes all children whose parents consider the material objectionable.

The board asked State Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell if it had the power to prohibit instructions in evolution.

Pickrell said a decision should be reached through a contested court case.

"Although the teaching of a particular subject may or may not infringe on the constitutional rights of a citizen, we must also be mindful that to prohibit the teaching of a particular subject which has long been accepted might well infringe on a valuable right of others—the right to receive an education," he said.

Moore criticized the board for its failure to take a position on evolution.

Leader of a successful fight against a Phoenix housing code and an unsuccessful City Council candidate, Moore carried his cause on statewide television.

His debate dare was taken by U.S. Atty. Carl A. Muecke, a Roman Catholic.

They argued at the Jewish Community Center in Phoenix while a lone picket marched outside carrying a sign that read—"Don't let Muecke make a monkey out of you."

Muecke argued that "the Bible is not a book of science, but a book of revelations. An individual can believe in God and still believe in evolution."

Moore said, "The teaching of evolution contradicts God's words as related in the book of Genesis. Such instruction has led to delinquency among the young people. Today's youth has no moral responsibility to God."

The Rev. Hugh Shelby Lee, pastor of the Phoenix First Congregational church, said, "I am very much opposed to this thing that Mr. Moore is doing. Under his initiative petition it is conceivable that you could not teach literature or anything else without a bias based on God. This is dangerous to education."

Dr. Davis C. Hass, pastor of the North Phoenix Baptist church, Phoenix, said, "Evolution should be taught as a theory only. It should take its place alongside a host of other theories."

The Rev. Edward A. Sheldon, pastor of the Faith Evangelical Lutheran church, Phoenix, said, "To ban the teaching of evolution in the schools is to say that you cannot have any teaching except what you believe. I think this is wrong."

Before you overhaul or sell that car, check Wards low price on remanufactured Riverside.

Their unmatched popularity stems from their unexcelled performance over the years. And here's how they do it:

Every engine is dismantled; the cylinders are rebored. Valves, crank-shaft are reground. Then, with over 200 new parts, the Riverside is gradually assembled into a new power plant. Only then is it backed by Wards guarantee.
